

Figure 2-figure supplement 3: Comparison of the DNA-bound XerH (gold) and DNA-free XerD (1aOp; green) structures.

The insert shows how a rotation of the N-terminal domain (in rainbow coloring from blue for N-terminus to red for C-terminus) can lead to opening of the XerD clamp in order to accommodate a DNA duplex without clashes.